The students and staff of University High School were shocked and saddened on January 24, 1971, to learn of the death of Dr. Max Beberman, 45, director of the University of Illinois Curriculum Laboratory, of which Uni is a part.

Dr. Beberman was the co-author of more than two dozen mathematics texts and teachers' guides for elementary and secondary schools; editor of a children's series of mathematics and science books, author of numerous articles in professional journals. He was widely know as the "father of the new math."

In 1950, Dr. Beberman came to Illinois from Alaska to be an instructor in education and teacher of mathematics at University High School. He was named director of the new established University of Illinois Committee on School Mathematics (UICSM) in 1951. UICSM was the first of the nation's pre-college curriculum development groups and it set the style used by such groups at the UI and elsewhere throughout the nation and the world.

Dr. Beberman was on assignment with his family in Bristol, England, at the time of his death. He and several of his students were studying British innovations in teaching elementary school children.

Four of Dr. Beberman's children attended Uni. John graduated in 1966, and Alice in 1969. Martin was a senior and Ruth a sophomore when they left for Bristol.

Organizations

Student Council

After a very slow beginning, Student Council eventually was organized this past year. Since Mark Satterthwaite, a 1970 graduating senior, was elected president of Council last spring, a new president had to be elected. Mike Fung became Student Council president and Phyllis Brazelton vice-president.

Elections

"Put your little old X in that there box, sit down and shut-up" was the plea of the often molested elections committee. Some how they always managed to triumph in the end.

"Ride on, Wilde Q. Chick-en"

Finance

Finance Committee was organized immediately following Christmas vacation. It proceeded to loan the Sophomore class 150 dollars and help the Juniors give a prom on a budget of less than 10 dollars. After that everything was child's play. Members are: Tod Satterthwaite, Karla Vallance, Phyllis Brazelton—Chairman. FRONT ROW: Eric Mast, Kim Mast, Dick Roth.

Lounge

Lounge Committee had a year long up-hill battle this year, fighting complete destruction of the student lounge. The Juke Box was disabled for most of year and furniture continued to decay into formless lumps. STANDING: Dave Stice—chairman, Anne Hogan, Tom Payne, Cathy Pines, Peggy Ore, Kim Mast, Angela Chow. SEATED: Walt Stewart, Kendal Session.

Audio Visual

Gargoyle

Uni High's student newspaper, Gargoyle, attempted to expand its coverage to include subjects outside the immediate school experiences; for example, articles on the new Illinois State Constitution, the 18 year old vote, pollution, the space program and others. Editor Mary Stone also introduced improvements in production of the paper by assigning a make-up editor—Lydia Chen, a news editor—Margaret Drickamer and a Feature Editor—Vicki Fung. Other improvements included more pictures games, and crossword puzzles.

Editors

Editor for the last semester in 70 and first quarter this year was Mary Stone. Finishing out her term was Larry Lo (far right) and Jim Bartle (not pictured) who then became sports editor. Larry Lo became Editor for the second semester. Middle man is Mr. Warren Royer, Sponsor.

Book Bar

Unique

Con-Con

Con-Con, a Student Council committee, was established this year in an effort to incorporate revisions of Uni's old constitution into a new constitution. In 1969 and 1970 new constitutions had been written, but both had been defeated by the student body. Con-Con 1971's main concern was improving the efficiency and quality of Student Council by defining the powers and duties of Student Council and its officers. Pictured, STANDING: Kim Mast, Jim Dobbs, David Lewman. SECOND ROW: Amber Barnhart, Terry DePauw, Cathy Pines, Dick Roth. On the floor is the chairman David Stice.

S.T.A.G.

The heady and glorious world of the theater visited Uni again this year when S.T.A.G. (Student Theater Arts Group) presented Oscar Wilde's The Importance of being Earnest. The play was highlighted by beautiful scenery—most of which was constructed the night of the dress rehearsal, and the great ham of all times, Emer Broadbent, stuffing his face full of bread. STANDING, From Left to Right: David Rubel, Phil Auslander, Chris Hamm, Ruth Monkman, Andi Dunn, Emer Broadbent, David Peshkin, Mike Ullmann, Peter Burkholder, Amber Barnhart, Jennifer Stone. INSIDE CIRCLE: Della Lin, Angela Chow, Celia Shapland, Phyllis Brazelton, Ross Johnson, Dawn Bodnar. SEATED is Nancy Ullmann and Margaret Drickamer. Dead is Jeff Stephens.

U'N'I

This year's U'N'I was different in more than one way. Due to a very short lunch hour and many extracurricular activities, U'N'I workers could not meet in one large group, so they broke off into smaller groups with the section editors in charge. Also, a Sports section was added. Calamity struck just before the February 12th deadline in the form of no lay-out mats and late photographs, but yearbook came through just the same.

Editors

Photographers

Workers

Madrigals

Madrigals began this year by being different. They not only add one new Alto and one new Soprano, making the total 14 instead of the old 12, but they obtained all new Elizabethian costumes. Continuing with their uniqueness they presented a Christmas pageant never to be forgotten, complete with boar's head and beautiful singing. Madrigals also participated in a state-wide music contest, did some taping and went on an out-of-town tour.

Instrument

Instrumental Music chalked up a new for Uni this year by presenting an all-instrumental concert in an informal atmosphere. The brass ensemble performed at the Christmas concert, and a small mixed ensemble played for the Mozart operetta Bastien and Bastienna. Thirty students in all participated in the instrumental program.

Pep Band

A group of students and teachers joined together to musically support our Illineks in the form of Pep Band. The band, directed by Mr. Frank Jacobs with the help of Mr. Bob White and Gregg Kinkley, performed at some of the home basketball games. The group made up for any musical inability with plenty of enthusiasm.

Mixed Chorus

Mixed Chorus became acquainted with the American composers this year, in an attempt to be musically educated rather than just learning music. "Ceremony of Carols" accompanied by harp, and popular Christmas carols were presented by Mixed Chorus at the traditional Uni High Christmas Concert. A break with tradition came with the operetta. This year, instead of performing one Gilbert and Sullivan, Mixed Chorus presented two non-G&S operettas, the hilarious "Love is a Gamble" and the musical Mozart Operetta "Bastien and Bastienna". Spring Concert was composed of American written songs.

P I G

Adlai Stevenson III vs. Ralph T. Smith was the big political issue this year, and in compliance with this the Political Interest Group called in speakers for the two senatorial candidates. P.I.G. met during noon hours and discussed political happenings in the real world. Seated are Cindy Heath, Irene Ang, Jennifer Stone, Ben Stake, Woody Richardson. Standing in the back is our leader Walt Stewart. Not pictured, the V.P. John Hogan.

Model UN

Though Model U.N. usually participates with the University in the mock General Assembly, at least for the first part of last year they did not get off the ground. At meetings members discussed world events, problems and pressures. Members, STANDING: Woody Richardson, Walt Stewart, Peter Burkholder, Richie Lazarus, Gregg Kinkley, Peter Wolff, Adriane Wakat. SEATED: Mary Stone, Andi Dunn, Terry Stinson, Beth Burdick, Nancy Johanson. Not pictured: Martin Wolff.

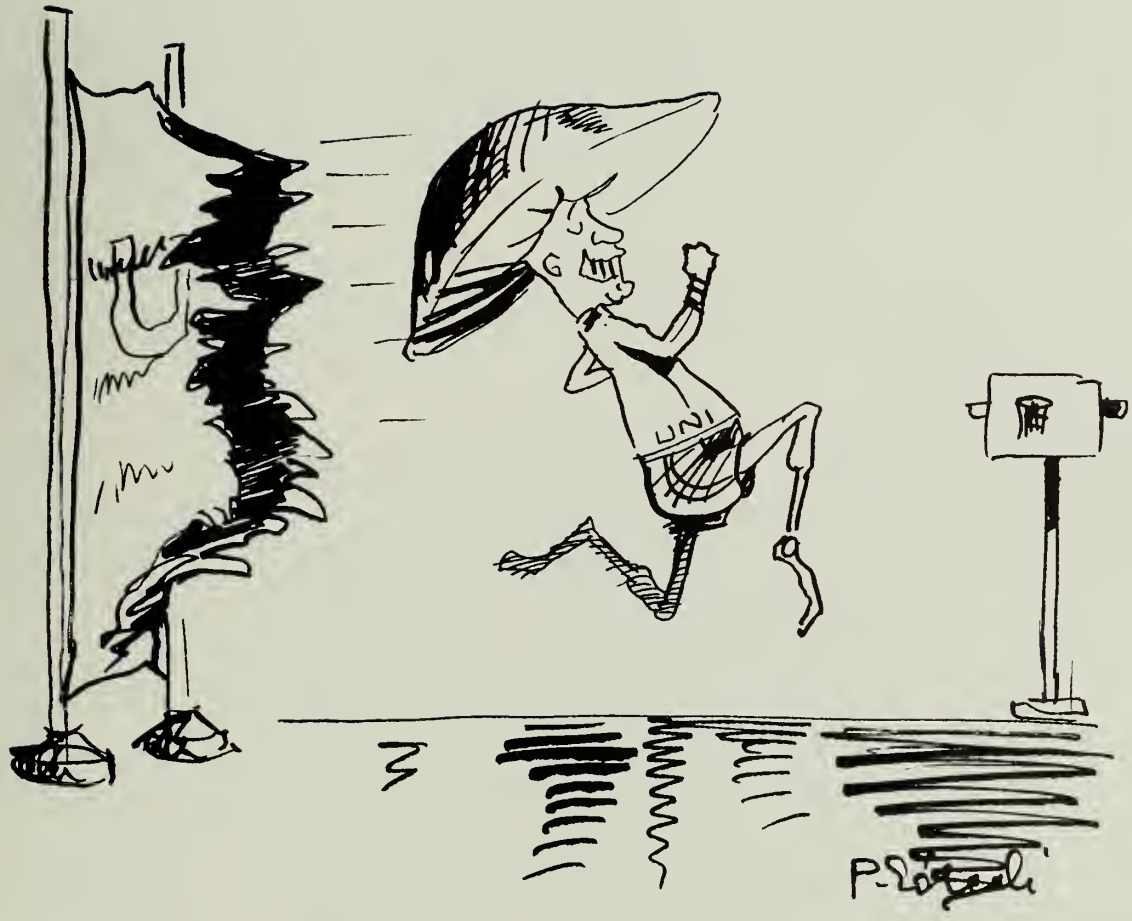
ATHLETICS

SPORTS



Cross Country

Although this year's season was not so successful for the team as last, many runners gained valuable experience. Captain Tod Satterthwaite had a good year, setting a number of course records. He placed second at the Niles West Invitational, fifth in the Twin Cities Meet, fourth in the district, and eighty-seventh in the State meet at Peoria. Giving strong support to Tod were Jim Bartle, Dave Peshkin, Eric Mast, and Rich Klein.

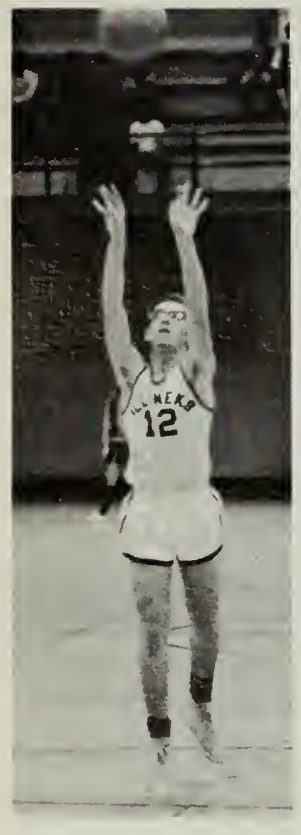
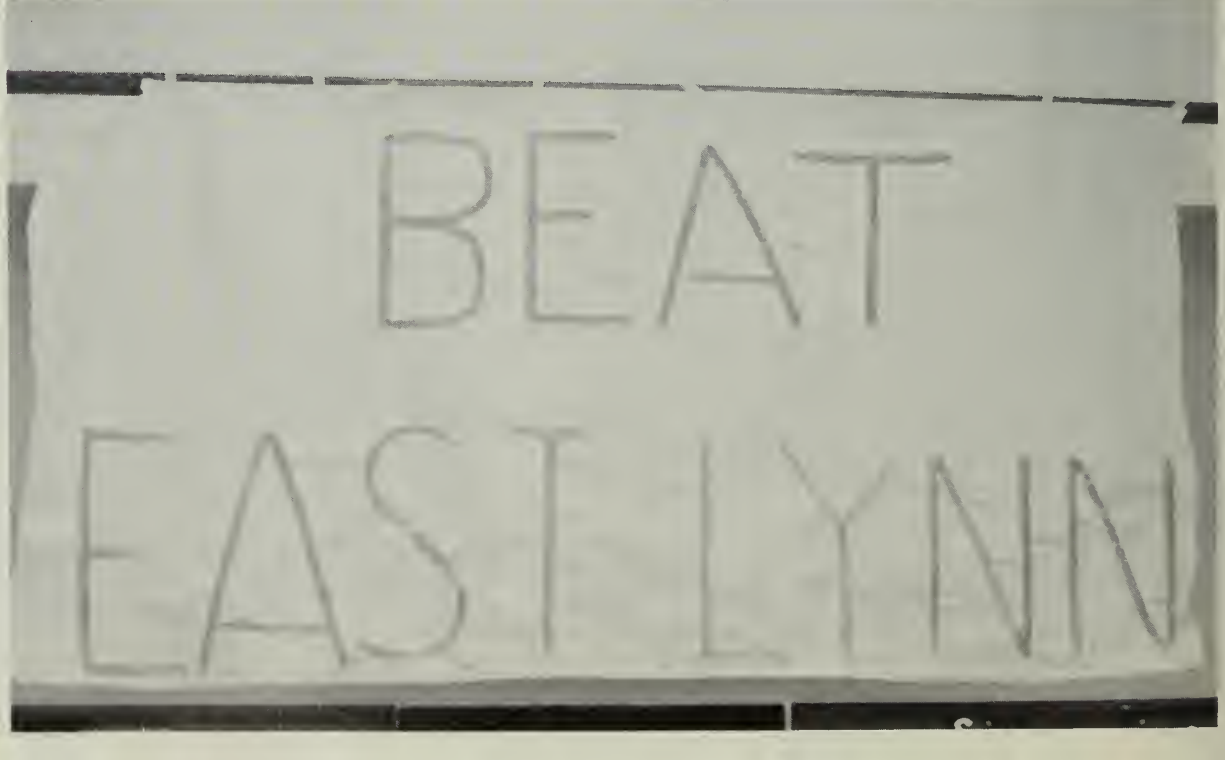
The 70-71 version of the Illineks was much better than last year's team and near the end of the season romped to victory over Onarga Military Academy 79-45. Even though we only won one game the team worked hard in practice and in games seemed to play its' best against the toughest opposition. The team was led by two juniors Jim Bartle and Greg Walters and senior Kim Jones. With over half of our points returning next year we should have a good basis for a team. This year's team was coached by Jack Ashenfelter who did an excellent job in shaping us up into a presentable bunch of ball players.





Last years team was a sideshow as much as a basketball team; this squad simply lacks physical talent. Still, the players can dribble, pass and shoot . . . they look like a real basketball team—just not good enough. And they hustle.

BACK ROW: Eric Mast, Coach John Brown, Luke Bissell, Kevin Eichelburger, Woody Richardson, Trent Barnhart and Larry Brazelton. This years J.V. didn't win a game, but worked very hard. Their closest game was a four point loss to Catlin.

At right: Coach Brown and Coach Ashenfelter put a lot of time and effort into the basketball program. It is too bad we couldn't have won some just for them.

Social Studies

The head of the department, Dr. Ella Leppert, taught one sophomore class and senior seminar. She also sponsored Model U.N.

The staff of the Social Studies Department had progressive ideas this year. They tried to help students learn how to react in society, and have good social relations. One upper class focused on the problems of society, such as racism and poverty; and tried to make the students more aware of them.

Ellen Johnson struggled through one freshman class.

Grenville King was in charge of one freshman and one sophomore class of wild students.

Uni's lovable Wilson Dwyer cradled a subfreshman class, and taught U.S. History to one half of the juniors. He also sponsored P.I.G.

Bob White cradled a subfreshman class and taught U.S. History to the other half of the juniors. He sponsored student council, also.

English

The Uni High English department taught the students how to read critically, how to write parody and poetry, how to use a variety of rhetorical patterns, and how to deliver a formal speech. It also attempted to lead students to an understanding of some of the great ideas and themes of literature.

The head of the English department, Charlene Tibbitts, taught senior English and sponsored Unique.

Sarah Eitelbach taught two sub classes and two sophomore classes.

Warren Royer, Uni's Publicity Manager, taught sub English and journalism. He also sponsored Gargoyle, U'N'I, and Audio-Visual.

Uni's brilliant actress Jane Page sponsored STAG and operetta. In her spare time she taught the English I classes.

Mary Hoag taught both English III classes and was the faculty sponsor of "Earnest".

Guidance

The 1st Book of Our Class

or

Genesiskoplis

In the beginning Wilfred and his Holy Administration picked the Class of '71. And the Class was without form and void: and Wilfred said, "Let there be classes." And there were classes, and Wilfred saw that they were good. And so it came to pass that the Class of '71 were and they received his blessing.

Now there was a plague upon the land of Uni, and this plague came in two persons—and lo the first be Swĕn gĕl, and lo the second be Lŏ. Now the people of the Class knew well how to attacketh these creatures. For yea, the Class gave Lŏ so much trouble that she smote the Class, saying, "Verily, verily, I say unto thee, I can't taketh it any longer."

Now Swĕn gĕl hadeth a different tactic—an emissary of evil nameth Mĭthĕr Mărtín. He wreaked much havoc on the peoples of the Class by smiting them with his lispeth and making them partake of manifold reports upon famous composers.

Yea, even giants knowneth as seniors invaded the sanctitude of the Class' very ranks, they could look to even the shortest amongst them to placate their savage souls.

But yea, the Class had the knowledge to combateth all obstacles put in front of them. For their technology had yielded the spitwad, with which they smited not only Mărtĭn, but lo themselves. And it is upon this civil war that the Greek domination of our class gaveth over to Mormon influence, in our Freshman era—for one generation passeth away, and another generation cometh.

The Second Epoch or An Epistle of

Broadbent

And so it came to pass that the Class of '71 fell out of favor with Wilfred, and he spake harshly unto them saying, "For your transgressions, wherin you have partaken of knowledge, I shall cause you to speak different languages, and not be able to understandeth each other. And this did happen. For he senteth down from a high notion his firmament of the North Attic Pēz, and Ŭnzĭckĕr, and Cŭrtĭn, and they did teach the sinners different tongues, and to this day they understandeth each other not.

David the King, Thomas the Fast, and Eric the Holshover then joined the ranks of the Class. And so it came to passes. While the entire female population concentrated on these three wise men, the male population concentrated on the odd art of de-pantsing Tĭmŏthy and Mărkŭs. And hence these two camps, strangely divided, were re-united in the third epoch of the Class, where Mormen gave into Shinto-Taoists.

The Third Epoch or An Epistle of

Fung

And so Wilfred and his helper Robert sent their only son Anthony down to Uni, to helpeth the Class repent of their sins, even knowing he would later be crucified by the very onew he tried to help. And it came to pass that yet another god descended from the North Attic, and his name was Cōrnĕll.

And Cōrnĕll endeavoredeth to leadeth his people out from the depths of the Valley into the Light of Good Music. And on top of Mount Sion he received the 10 commandments of good music, and preached them to the Class, and they did sing better.

During this time vandals beseiged the land, breaking pipes in the sanctity of the locker room, and utilizing weapons supplied by a false idol, John Baal. Those hayhands related Indian Myths and partooketh in an odd type of football wherein the object was not the ball but was the person.

And Anthony saw all those things, and saw that they were bad and so seeking the aid of Èllá, did create a flood of homework. And the homework came down for 170 days and 170 nights, and noahone was forewarnèd. And whence cometh the in-service days, a rainbow appearedeth, reminding the people of the Fung epoch that there would be more homework in the years of Weisel.

The Gospel according to

Weizŏwsky

O, it then came to păssskuva that Fungŏwlēse went rămpănt ōvŏwre the lăndúh. Yŏw, ēvăn pōstŏwrez for Big Shŏwe had the lăngwăje on ítskuva.

And Anthony and his counselors saw this, and wondered from whence and for what this scourge had cometh. Ergo, his counselors submitted the Class to tests, to make a-certain that yey, indeed, sanity still remaineth. The PSAT, ACT, and SAT cameth and passed away, and indeed sanity had left, but the people were not in a position to careth.

And upon these feelings of remorse cameth a most singular event. Chŭcky-Pŏŏ did cometh and taught the Class how to keep power under control. He did this with great liscense, and taughteth the Class how to driveth with knees, backeth into lightposts, and knocketh bumpers.

Under the ausipices of Cōrnĕll the Class did undertaketh in this, their fourth year, the Mikado. And it came to pass that an exceeding number were cast for it, and they keepeth many momentos of it; and therefore, there is a time to keep, and a time to cast away!

And therein the oddysey of the Class of '71 entereth its last year.

The Revelations of

Lazarus

And the Class, in the last year of its existence, were in need of a great leader. Along the River Boneyard they found a tomb, and the dead man inside was the only one for the task. Ergo, Anthony spake unto the cadavre, saying, "Lăzărŭs, come forth." And he cameth. And he was utter Lăzărŭs, head to foot.

And this man had a hard lot of sheep to lead. Unlike the accustomed these sheep said not Băh, but Oink! But this all seemeth to be grst to Lăzărŭs' mill.

But Lăzărŭs and mortal alike were subject to the brutal homework floods of Tĭbbĕtts and Lĕppĕrt. And so the second catechism came to pass. And when it passed, the riots of the Class were placated, the eternal question of whether to haveth operretta or broadway production were solved, when all were clear, the Class of '71 learned that yea, indeed there is more than one road to Tipperary.

The Chronicles end here

And if any man shall taketh away from the words of the book of this prophecy, God shall taketh away his part out of the book of life. (Revelation 22.119)
